MR. EDMUND STIRLING. A VETERAN COLONIST.

Mr. Edmund Stirling, one of the oldost residents of Western Australia, and founder of the firm of Stirling Bros, and Co., Ltd., died at his residence, Avon-terrace, Tork, at 10 o'clock on Nov 2 morning. Up to the beginning of the present year Mr. Stirling had enjoyed excellent health, considering his advanced years. About a month ago he was overtaken with sickness, culminating in an issue of blood from the brain. From this, however, he seemed to have recovered, but other complications afterwards arose, and caused heart trouble. Dr. Johnson was assiduous in his attention to his patient, and was aided by consultations with Dr. Davies, the Government medical officer for the district. For about three days before his death Mr. Stirling was in a semi-comatose condition, and it was evident to his friends that the end was approaching. The funeral is appointed to leave the Perth railway station at 4 o'clock this afternoon for the Anglican cemetery. Mr. Edmund Stirling was born near the town of Worsted, Norfolk, England, in 1815, and came to Fremantle in 1830 in the ship Edward Lombe. Among the other passengers were the late Messrs. Thomas and Henry Carter, under whose care Mr. Stirling was placed. Shortly after his arrival Mr. Stirling associated himself with the first effort that was made to bring out a newspaper in the new settlement, the early issues being in manuscript, and being sold at 26. 6d. per copy. A site for the office - a bush humpy - was chosen at a spot about two miles from Fremantle, still known as Hamilton Hill. The plant was subsequently removed to Cantonment-road, and housed in a building which stood somewhere near the present railway bridge and Richmond Hotel. In those days local journalism was severely on its trial, as may be imagined, in the circumstances attending the little colony, whose development, fitful and tardy, inspired so little hope that few remained who had the means with which to remove to other fields wherein to invest their fortunes and employ their energies. In spite of reverses, however, prosperity was gradually achieved, and with it journalism kept alive. In the year 1840 we find the name of Mr. Stirling associated with that of Mr. Macfaul in founding Tim Inquirer, which was printed on an Imperial press, which is still preserved on the premises of this journal. Mr. Macfaul died soon afterwards, and the property ultimately fell into the hands of Mr. Stirling. In 1855 The Inquirer absorbed the Commercial News, the first of the many journalistic ventures at Fremantle. Retiring from active business pursuits about the year 1879, Mr. Stirling was succeeded by his sons. In the early days of Perth Mr. Stirling took an active interest in all public matters. For many years he occupied a seat on the Town Trust. Subsequently he became a member of the Municipal Council. The planting of shade trees in the streets was with him a special hobby. We believe that to Mr. Stirling's energy, and the co-operation of Mr. George Glyde and the late Mr. Bernard Smith and Mr. James Dyer, the people of Perth are indebted for the formation, of what is known as the Forrest-avenue.

MRS. EDMUND STIRLING.

*SINCE our last issue another old colonist has gone to swell the ranks of the great majority one who has had more to do with the vicissitudes incident to Press life in a young colony than falls to the lot of womankind in general. We refer to Mrs. EDMUND STIRLING - the helpmeet, for upwards of fifty years, of the oldest journalist now living on Australian shores-a veteran contemporary who for nearly half a century, directed the destinies of the old Inquirer, and made it the most successful press-and-type property ever launched in this portion of the Sunny South. The subject of our notice, after a residence of fifty-seven years in this colony, passed peacefully away at her residence in Beaufort-street, last Tuesday evening, beloved by her children, grand-children, and great-grand-children, and universally revered by friends of every class throughout the length and breadth of the land.*

After 84 Years.

At "Rosslyn," Claremont, last Saturday, a large gathering of relatives and friends assembled to offer their congratulations to Mrs. Sarah Chipper upon her 84th birthday. Mrs. Chipper is a member of the Stirling family; being one of eleven children who first saw the light in St. George's Terrace, upon the site that is now occupied by St. George's House. With the exception of a few years, at a London school, she spent her long and eventful life in her native State. In appearance and conversation Mrs Chipper possesses the vivacity of women many years her junior. Her husband, the late Mr. Richard Chipper, was for many years contractor for conveying the English and Eastern mails and passengers to and from Albany and Perth, when the time occupied in doing the journey, each way, was 72 hours, his conveyance being a gaily-painted red-and-yellow van, that was propelled by six horses, which were changed every twenty miles. For each hour the mails were late in arriving at Perth or Albany the contractor was fined ten pounds for every hour he reached these outposts under the time specified in the contract, he was paid that amount extra; consequently the pace was one of high pressure, from start to finish, each fortnightly trip. For many years the brothers Chipper, Richard and Thomas were the only drivers of the Royal Mail. Richard completing the journey between Perth and Kojonup (where Thomas lived in the house in which Mr. Henry Clarke, an ex-Mayor of Fremantle, met his death, owing to a gun accident); Thomas handling the ribbons between his homestead and Albany, and vice versa. The Chippers were considered to be, by travellers from all parts of the world, the leading Jehus of the Commonwealth, and, after the death of Mr. Thomas Chipper, his two sons, John and Henry, were worthy successors of the two "kings of the whip" between Perth and King George's Sound. Mr. and Mrs. Chipper had a family of nine children, two of whom, Ross and Lindsay made the supreme sacrifice, after pioneering the wheat belt at Quarading for several years. Miss Millie Chipper (now Mrs. Major Ross) is associated with her husband at the head of an important outpost of the Salvation Army in India. Another of the Chipper girls is at the head of the Women's Police Department at Fremantle; while Mr. William Chipper is Secretary for one of the State's largest Building Societies. During her girlhood Mrs. Chipper was an active member of the staff of the "Inquirer" (parent of "The Daily News"), which was established by her father, the late Edmund Stirling, in August, 1840.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mr. R.- W. Chipper, of the King's Head Inn, died suddenly last night from epilepsy. We regret to announce the death of Mr. Richard W. Chipper, of York, which occurred at his residence- the King's Head hotel very suddenly, from an epileptic fit late last night. For a considerable time past Mr. Chipper had been in the enjoyment of but very in different health, suffering severely at uncertain intervals from the alarming malady to which he finally succumbed. Few of the older residents of the Colony- he was among the first who were born in Western Australia - were better known or more generally liked than the deceased, who has passed away at the comparatively early age of 56. The deceased married a daughter of Mr Edmund Stirling, by whom he leaves a family of seven children - two sons and five daughters - who are, however, fairly well provided for. The funeral took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Richard William Chipper and Sarah Maria Stirling had the following children:

LINKS WITH THE PAST.

By the death of Mrs. Alice Laura Nicol which occurred early last week, at the re- sidence of her family circle, "Glenelg," South Perth, a member of two old Western Australian families passed away. The late Mrs. Nicol was in her 59th. year. She was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Somers Birch, who were married in Trinity Church, Perth, by the Rev, J. M. Innes, during the early 60 's. Mr. Birch, who died during the early 70 's, was a son of the founder of the old family of chemists of that name, whose pharmacy was in the building that fronts Hunter's corner, at the intersection of Barrack and Hay streets. The home of the original Birch family occupied the Terrace block adjoining Bishop's Court, upon which For-rest House stands. Before her marriage, Mrs. Somers Birch was Miss Laura Stirling, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Stirling, landed at Fremantle during the year 1829. The late Mrs. Nicol 's first marriage was during the 80's, when she became the wife of the late Mr. Robert Gooch, who will be remembered as a pastoralist of the Murchi-son and Gascoyne districts. Of that mar-riage there was issue one daughter, who is residing with her husband, Mr. Richard. Wallace, at Tootra station, near Moora, of which he is the managing representative on behalf of the New Zealand Land Company who are also owners of Berringarra, on the Murchison, as well as other pastoral pro-perties throughout the Commonwealth and the Dominion. After Mr. Gooch's death, at their Flemington station, near Carnarvon, Mrs. Gooch was appointed manageress of Messrs. Baston and C.'s drapery establishment in that township, where, about 16 years ago, she married Mr. Arthur Nicol, of Messrs. Dalgety's stock department. The only descendant of that union is Master Alan Nicol, who is a student of the Perth High School.

The Late Mr SOMERS BIRCH. - It is with deep regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. SOMERS BIRCH, which occurred at his residence in Perth, on Monday morning, September 18th Inst., after an illness of a very few days. The funeral took place on the following Wednesday, and was attended by a large number of the deceased's relatives and fellow-townsmen. His remains were conveyed into the Trinity Congre-gational Chapel, at which place he felt it to be a privilege and delight to worship the only true God through Jesus Christ his Saviour. The Revs. T. C. Laurence. J. Johnston, and O. Meadowcroft conducted the funeral service in the chapel, whence the solemn cortege proceeded to the Perth cemetery, and laid his body in the family tomb, "surely expecting the coming of the day in which all that are in the grave shall hear the voice of the Son of God, and shall come forth - they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life.' His decease is felt as a loss to the Metropolitan Rifle Volunteers, of which he was one of the first enrolled members ; more, by his fellow-workers in Sabbath school instruction ; still more, by his aged parents and the immediate members of his own family ; and most of all, by his sorrowing widow and fatherless children.

Somers Birch and Laura Hannah Stirling had the following children:

She married (2) ARTHUR NICHOL about 1905 in Carnarvon, Western Australia, Australia<sup>84</sup>.

Her last voyage to Singapore was made in the short space of twenty-two days, while the same run occupied the Sea Ripple twenty-six, and the Nile no less than forty-eight, days. The Late Mr. Taylor.

One of the results of last week's storm at East Fremantle was, indirectly, the cause of the death of Mr. Richard Taylor, the port's respected health inspector and municipal valuer for so many years. For considerable period previous to joining the official staff of the Fremantle Municipality, Mr. Taylor was coxswain of the Rottnest pilot boat, under Captain James Nash, formerly master of Messrs. Bateman's schooners, Sea Ripple and Bungaree. In that position Mr. Taylor brought many of our maritime marine to a safe anchorage in Gage Roads, at all hours and in all weathers, his long association with the pilot service earning for him the sobriquet of coxswain Taylor. The deceased gentleman was a genial, open handed citizen, and his attention to travellers in the old pilot smack, between Fremantle and the island, made for him many life-long friends.

Ultimately the firm was merged into a limited liability company, and under the new conditions of management, the "Morning Herald" was established. One of the founders of the City of Perth Oddfellows' Lodge, he never lost interest in the order, with which he remained closely associated to the last. Although of a disposition somewhat retiring, he had a large circle of friends, and his demise will be widely regretted. Right up to the last deceased was a director of Stirling Bros. and Co., Ltd. He was employed in the post and telegraph office in Perth, and assisted in laying the transcontinental telegraph line between Perth and Eucla. Later he joined his father and brothers in conducting "The Enquirer" and "The Daily News," which were controlled by the family. When they relinquished their interests in the papers to Mr. A. Lovelkin, he turned his attention to mining interests and travelled over the whole of the Western Australian goldfields. He never lost his love for journalism, however, and was a frequent contributor to the Western Australian press under the pen name of "Eucalyptus." Mr. Stirling wrote numerous articles on old times and early day identities in Perth. Wandering round the old graves in the cemeteries round Perth had a special fascination for him, as names recorded there of old colonists brought to his memory many incidents and happenings of his early years. He was a loyal Western Australian, and a great believer in the future of*

By the death of Mrs Horace Stirling, which took place at the residence of her family- "Norfolk," South Perth-a few days ago, a link with two of the State's earliest pioneer families passed, away. Mrs. Stirling was a member of the Armstrong and Jones families, her four grandparents having been passengers by the ships Gilmore and Lotus, both of which anchored at Fremantle during Foundation Year (1829). Her paternal grandfather-Captain Adam Armstrong-was an officer under the Duke of Wellington; and lost an eye at Waterloo. With his five sons Frank, George, Adam, Christopher, and John, and one daughter, who married a merchant named Montgomery and settled in Canada, the old hero landed at Clarence, locating their farming implements, household effects, and live stock, at Dalkeith, the name of the Armstrong home in Scotland. At that home entertainments were frequently given by Neil Gow, the world's greatest violinist; whose Grand daughter, Margaret Gow, became the wife of the Waterloo veteran. During the 40 's the Armstrongs purchased Ravenswood, near Pinjarrah, now the property of Mrs. Alfred Thomas, who is one of Captain Armstrong's granddaughters. One of the State's octogenarians (Francis Gow Armstrong, JP), ex-Mayor of Geraldton, now a resident of Greenough, is Captain Armstrong's senior living representative, many of whom made the supreme sacrifice at the Great War. Mrs. Adam Armstrong was the eldest daughter of Mr. Richard Jones, who was Perth's first painter and glazier, as well as the original owner of the Terrace- William and Hay-street sites which extend from the Commercial Union Chambers to the Palace Hotel; along William-street to what were until recently Marmion's Buildings; thence along Hay-street to Gleeson's tobacconist shop. The Jones family were also pioneers of the Wanneroo district, and two of its members William and Richard-were, with Captain Hester and Mr. John Allnut, pioneers of the Blackwood country during the early 40's; the cattle station of the Jones family (Southampton) having passed into the hands of the late Captain Nicholas, who was for many years manager of Burbank's mine, near Coolgardie. At the time of her demise Mrs Stirling was in her 68th year. During the 90's she actively engaged in Church and other charity work at Claremont, having devoted considerable time to the erection of Christ Church and its adjoining Parish Hall. Mrs Stirling is survived by her husband and two sons-Edmund, of Trinity House, St. George's Terrace; and Athol, of the Westralian Farmers, Limited.

The death of Mr. L. J. Stirling which occurred last week, removed another of the old colonists, whose birth place was the city of Perth. His age was 73. For a great many years he had the position of postmaster at the chief port, and there won the respect and esteem of all who came in contact with him, in both his official and private life. He married Miss Sophia Harwood, a daughter of the late Mr. Harwood, who was largely associated with the business and pioneering activities of Fremantle's early days. He was a brother of the late Mr. H. G. Stirling, who will be remembered by old colonists as a frequent contributor to the press, and who, at the time of his death, was engaged in writing a comprehensive history of Western Australia, which it may be hoped, will be completed by some of his literary descendants. After retirement from his official position of postmaster at Fremantle, the late Mr. L. J. Stirling engaged in farming pursuits in the York district, and did so with a fair amount of success. Lately he lived in retirement at his home at Gooseberry Hill, up to the time of his death.

After having lived a well-spent life of nearly 66 years, the greater portion of which was spent in this town, Mr. George Edwards Inkpen "crossed the bar" at his residence, 102 Angelostreet, South Perth, on Thursday afternoon, June 9th, after a very short illness. When the news of his death was made known late on Thursday afternoon it came as a great surprise to most residents as very few even knew that he was in any way suffering from ill-health-Deep and sincere regret was expressed on all sides at the passing of a man who during the major portion of his life ranked as one of the town's most prominent citizens. For three weeks prior to his death the deceased had been ailing but there were no serious symptoms discernible and it was not until a week before the end that medical aid was sought. He gradually weakened and shortly after mid-day on the 9th his son, Mr. Roy Inkpen, received word to make haste to the city as the end appeared in sight but unfortunately he was too late as his father passed away at 3.15. The widow, one son, Mr. Roy Inkpen of our town, and three daughters Dorothy (Mrs. Weston), Thelma, and Mary (Mrs. Leslie) are left to mourn their great loss and to them the whole-hearted sympathy of the residents of the town and district is extended. The flag was half-masted at the Town Hall on Friday-The deceased was, prior to his retirement, one of the most prominent provincial journalists in the State and was for 40 years editor-proprietor of this paper first known as the "Eastern Districts Chronicle" and some few years back changed to "The York Chronicle" He was well known throughout the State, was of a very generous and genial disposition, and was held in high esteem by a large circle of friends He: was a son of one of the oldest families in the State and was born in Hay street, Perth, near Wesley Church, on 28th June, 1866. At the age of eight years he came to York with his parents, Mr- and Mrs George Inkpen, and after a short residence here his father founded the "Eastern Districts Chronicle" which was the first paper printed outside of the metropolitan area and was also the official recorder of news throughout York, North am, loodyay, Beverley and Brookton districts. Educated at York Mr Inkpen was apprenticed to his father when his schooling days were over. Upon the death of his father he took over the control of the paper and for 40 years was editor-proprietor and it is only just over two years -since he vacated the editorial chair to enjoy a well-merited rest from active association with the work on which he had spent most of his life- He was recognised as one of the State's leading provincial journalists and was closely associated with the W.A. Provincial Press Association of which organisation he was a vice-president for many years and president in 1928-29 It was in the latter year that he headed the delegation from this State to Canberra where the Australian Provincial Press Conference was held. As a champion of the town and district he had few peers and through the columns of his paper and eloquent oratory he never lost an opportunity of furthering its • claims and in this respect the York district has suffered a distinct loss. In 1908 he was appointed a Justice of the Peace for this district and last year received a commission for the whole State. During his residence in the town his services on the Bench were, owing to his extensive knowledge of the proceedings, much in demand. During the years 1917-1921 he Occupied the Mayoral chair of the Municipal Council and he worthily upheld that position with honour to himself and the town. During his four years in office he was associated with many municipal undertakings the most important of which was the purchase by the Council of the town's electric lighting system and had his advice been taken the purchase price would have been considerably less than that which was paid. Also while he was Mayor a commencement was made on the collecting of funds for the fallen Soldiers' Memorial. He was a fine speaker and meetings over which he presided were well controlled. As a member of the local Repatriation Committee he took a very keen interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of our returned men- In sporting circles he was well to the fore and at various times was on the committee of the more important bodies Bowls were his favourite pastime and in this game he certainly excelled. There was very little, he liked better than to spend a few days with a party kangaroo hunting and many and varied were the experiences he could relate with reference to hunting trips in his more youthful days in company with other well known identities .

George Edward Inkpen and Amy Frances Chipper had the following children:

By the death of Mrs. Alice Laura Nicol which occurred early last week, at the residence of her family circle, "Glenelg," South Perth, a member of two old Western Australian families passed away. The late Mrs. Nicol was in her 59th. year. She was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Somers Birch, who were married in Trinity Church, Perth, by the Rev, J. M. Innes, during the early 60's. Mr. Birch, who died during the early 70 's, was a son of the founder of the old family of chemists of that name, whose pharmacy was in the building that fronts Hunter's corner, at the intersection of Barrack and Hay streets. The home of the original Birch family occupied the Terrace block adjoining Bishop's Court, upon which For-rest House stands. Before her marriage, Mrs. Somers Birch was Miss Laura Stirling, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Stirling, landed at Fremantle during the year 1829. The late Mrs. Nicol 's first marriage was during the 80's, when she became the wife of the late Mr. Robert Gooch, who will be remembered as a pastoralist of the Murchison and Gascoyne districts. Of that marriage there was issue one daughter, who is residing with her husband, Mr. Richard. Wallace, at Tootra station, near Moora, of which he is the managing representative on behalf of the New Zealand Land Company who are also owners of Berringarra, on the Murchison, as well as other pastoral properties throughout the Commonwealth and the Dominion. After Mr. Gooch's death, at their Flemington station, near Carnarvon, Mrs. Gooch was appointed manageress of Messrs. Baston and C.'s drapery establishment in that township, where, about 16 years ago, she married Mr. Arthur Nicol, of Messrs. Dalgety's stock department. The only descendant of that union is Master Alan Nicol, who is a student of the Perth High School.
